It’s break. The pupils are not supposed to be in the classroom. James is downstairs. Rob is talking to him on his mobile.

Rob: What are the teachers doing, James?
James: They’re having tea and biscuits in the staff room.
Rob: Can you see Mr Clarence? What’s he doing?
James: He is writing a letter. The music teacher is playing the piano. The French teacher is reading Le Monde and the science teacher is on the phone. Look out! The Head is coming! He is turning left. He is crossing the playground! He’s going upstairs!

Rob: Quick everyone! The Head’s coming! Shhhhh!
Head: What are you doing here, children? Why aren’t you outside?
Sophie: We’re revising for the French test! Can we stay in, Sir?
Head: Well, if you are really working, you can. But be very quiet!

It’s break. The pupils are not supposed to be in the classroom. James is downstairs. Rob is talking to him on his mobile.

Rob: What are the teachers doing, James?
James: They’re having tea and biscuits in the staff room.
Rob: Can you see Mr Clarence? What’s he doing?
James: He is writing a letter. The music teacher is playing the piano. The French teacher is reading Le Monde and the science teacher is on the phone. Look out! The Head is coming! He is turning left. He is crossing the playground! He’s going upstairs!

Rob: Quick everyone! The Head’s coming! Shhhhh!
Head: What are you doing here, children? Why aren’t you outside?
Sophie: We’re revising for the French test! Can we stay in, Sir?
Head: Well, if you are really working, you can. But be very quiet!